

A close-up photograph of a dark gray metal surface with a standing seam pattern. The image shows three parallel, raised ridges running diagonally from the top-left towards the bottom-right. The ridges are evenly spaced and have a consistent height and shape. The background between the ridges is a smooth, slightly textured metal surface. The lighting is even, highlighting the three-dimensional quality of the seams.

close-up of typical standing seam metal sample of similar awning appearance

